

National Students Against Violence Everywhere (SAVE) Youth Advisory Board.

Kalynn will join nine other youth leaders to discuss school violence issues and develop action plans for SAVE chapters across the nation.

One of Kalynn's major responsibilities is to help plan and organize activities for America's Safe Schools Week (Oct. 20-24), for National SAVE Day (Oct.
22), and for National Youth Violence Prevention Week (March 23-27).

"This year, I hope my chapter will be able to change the way people handle their problems in our school," Kalynn said.

"Fighting is an answer that never solves anything and only breeds more hate between people."

Kalynn is the daughter of Andrea Kowitz of Genoa City and Gary Kowitz of Chicago.

SAVE is a student-initiated, student-run organization aimed at promoting safe schools and communities by educating students about the effects and consequences of violence and to engage students in safe activities that benefit themselves and their community.

SAVE has more than 1,700 chapters and 200,000 members in 46 states. If you are interested in starting a SAVE chapter or in viewing school safety tips for students and parents, visit

Stopping the violence

Kalynn Kowitz wants to stop the violence.

To do that, the Wilmot
